

Media consolidation is a threat to diversity of opinion. Current practices are working well and should be maintained.